Gentlemen -

You will recall that early this last April I called with a collection of coins, a few of which you purchased and the remainder of which were left in your care. It was said at the time that these would be shown by you to some persons who might be interested in buying them.

As I have heard nothing from you I am interested in knowing whether anything has been done or is likely to be done about the coins, so that I ~~may~~ know what to do next.

Yours very truly,

June 26, 1934.

Dear Sir:

The reason you have heard nothing from us is that we expected a visit from you. However, we picked out some of the coins that we can use for which we will pay you about $15.00. Do you expect to come to New York or shall we mail the coins to you?

Very truly yours,
